May, 2008

After Tim Leaton won first place in the nationwide "Film Your Issue" contest and interned at the Disney Studios in 2006, he came to work for me as an Editorial Production Assistant on the film, Tropic Thunder from 2007 to 2008. His responsibilities included making runs, handling phone calls, organizing meals for a group of 20 people, accounting for petty cash daily, helping with screenings, and simply assisting wherever help was needed. Tim was a tremendous asset, and worked 15-hour days, six or seven days a week. Leaton was dependable, trustworthy, worked well with our crew, and understood that he was in an environment where there was always a sense of urgency. For these reasons, I feel comfortable recommending Tim to others.

*-Ben Stiller, Director,
"Tropic Thunder"*
